Where Did You Catch Him?

David Carter, storekeeper for State Police division headquarters, isn't telling which of Appomattox' ponds holds big mouth bass like this beauty he landed with a fly rod last Saturday. He is telling the weight, though—five pounds, and the fact that it was caught with a yellow poping bug. Herbert Ferguson, pictured above right, helped to net the fish. Ferguson, a farmer, took the bass home for supper.

Local Senior Scores First In Mechanics

An Appomattox High School senior, Thacker Cheatham, has won first place in Southside Area in farm mechanics. Thacker, 19, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cheatham, Spout Spring. Young Cheatham's work in farm mechanics was scored in comparison with that of applicants from fifteen Southside Virginia counties. The scoring was based on the quality and scope of the student's work in farm mechanics while enrolled in vocational agriculture.

Some of the items constructed by Cheatham are a post hole digger, scraper blade and farm gate. He has made repairs to numerous farm machines and assisted his father in building maintenance.

"The most important project I undertook was the establishment of a farm shop," he says. A good start has been made on equipping the farm shop and there are plans to add other equipment including an electric welder.

Cheatham's accomplishments will be considered along with those of other area winners for the state award.

Announcement of the state winner will be made during the State FFA Convention at Blacksburg, June 17-20.

Evergreen School To Close; Graduates Five 7th Graders

Evergreen School, built and operated in the village of Evergreen since 1904, graduates its last class Thursday, May 30. By order of the Appomattox County School Board, all children presently being taught at Evergreen will ride to Appomattox Elementary School for the next term.

In special graduation ceremonies Thursday, May 30, at 8 p.m., five seventh graders of the community received certificates and the privilege of continuing on to eighth grade and high school at Appomattox. Graduates are William Alexander Hawkins, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Marsh; Brenda Grishaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Grishaw; Chris Paulette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Paulette; Jimmy Womack, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Womack; and Bobby Gener Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Harris, all of Evergreen.

Almost 60 Years Old

A community spokesman, Mrs. J. K. Hamilton, told Thursday of the reluctance the community feels in losing its school, a landmark in the community for almost 60 years. One of the present teachers has said, 'This has been my happiest teaching experience.''

Land for the present school was purchased in 1904 from J. H. Cheatham, and the one-room school built in time for the October term to begin. Miss Emma Smith, daughter of the late Thomas A. Smith, and a long-time resident and business woman of Appomattox, was Evergreen's first teacher. She taught 53 pupils, many of whom are still in the community.

That first class, plus Miss Emma, returned to the school house for a 50 year reunion in October, 1954. More than 300 persons were present. Evergreen now is a two - room school, plus a well - equipped kitchen for serving hot lunches.

For the past 34 years, Evergreen has been an elementary school, with older pupils attending Appomattox High. Principal for the past four years has been Mrs. Ruth Jamerson, who also has taught 4, 5, 6 and 7th grades. Mrs. M. A. Glover, of Hickory, has taught the first through third grades for the past year.

In a special anniversary article of November 11, 1954, the TIMES VIRGINIAN said, "The community and the county have benefitted for half a century from the success of the Evergreen school. Many pupils have gone on to outstanding success in their chosen careers and Evergreen alumni are in all walks of life. Many of them are from families whose children in two and three generations have been Evergreen pupils. The achievements of the past are a challenge to the future.'

The future of Evergreen now is linked permanently to the Appomattox school system. Though the building will not be used as a school, plans are underway to continue to use it as a community building.
